

We're looking for models/secondhand outfit creators for our event on Saturday 23rd March!

Got secondhand style for miles? Are you a walking advertisement for why slow is the new chic?

Well, here's a chance to parade your pre-loved outfits down the ramp and win some sweet prizes!

Sustainable Queenstown, in collaboration with Wastebusters, is hosting Re:Fashion - An alternative 'slow' fashion show - promoting the ideas of choosing well, wearing for longer, mending and repairing, and shopping second hand first.

How it works:

- Put together up to 3 outfits that are secondhand - whether they're an op-shop find, uniquely upcycled, or a treasured family heirloom.
- We'll be choosing 15-20 outfits to be a part of the show, where models (that's you!) can share the stories behind their outfits.
- A panel of judges will award the best outfits based on sustainability and style!

Submissions welcome from models of all genders and ages.

Please email Neha and Scott at rc@sustainablequeenstown.org.nz for more details.
