The term is truly rushing by with so many great things happening. The senior students had a great afternoon last week where they plaster cast the junior students faces for an art activity. It was a really interesting experience for all those involved – pop in and see how the creations are coming along.

Thank you to all the Parents for donating gold coin towards the movie last week.

Olympics studies have been happening at Glenorchy School as they have with every other school in the country. We have been watching the New Zealand athletes do us proud and counting the medals and heartbreaks.

Although we are studying the Olympics we have been also discussing how people are different and choose team or individual sports. What skills they might need for the different types of sports and how this relates to what we choose.

Camp

7th, 8th 9th December

Although this might feel a long way off, we need lots of things to come together to ensure it's a success.

If you have a boat or student life jackets , extra tents that you are willing to pilot or lend, please get in touch with the school so we can start compiling a list and get planning underway.

Scott Willis of the Blueskin Resilient Communities Trust is coming to Glenorchy on Thursday August 25th at 7.00pm in the Glenorchy Hall to talk about.....

This is a chance for us all to think about what is possible in our community, what skills we already have and how to identify easily achievable, first goals. It's an interactive evening where we can share ideas and dream of what could happen.....so please come along and contribute to the discussion.
